CDE- PROGRAMME AT BHOJIA DENTAL COLLEGE – BADDI ON ENDO

SAFE AND AUTOMATED ENDO

The concept for rubber dam isolation dates back to almost 150 years. It not only provides an aseptic field free from contamination but also provides superior, more esthetic and long-lasting effective treatment. In this lecture, keeping in mind the scenario of patients awareness for qualitative treatment, the effective and available ways of rubber dam application pertaining to various clinical aspects and different techniques and armamentarium available for rubber dam application will be discussed.

Although the principles of endodontics have remained unchanged for many decades, root canal treatment has been subject to major changes in the past few years. Advancements in dentistry make getting a root canal today easier than ever. From the diagnostic tools that dentists use to the instruments and techniques used during the actual procedure, root canal therapy has gone high-tech. This lecture will focus on the use of modern technologies to avoid iatrogenic injury, and on the other hand provide safe, reproducible and predictable results in primary root canal treatment as well as retreatment procedures.
